NEW CODES WILL COME UP MONDAY

Commissioner Cunningham Begins Action on Measures

BUILDING, ZONING RULES

Safeguards to Property Owners Would be Provided

A building code and zoning ordinance will be brought before commission next Monday night for action after being discussed for two years.

Commissioner Harold Cunningham brought the question to an issue Monday night by presenting a motion which was unanimously approved that Solicitor Paul Landis prepare necessary legislation and the zoning committee headed by Ralph Austin give a report.

Lack of both measures deprecates properties and kills attempts of persons to beautify their homes, Commissioner Cunningham said in his announcement that Lima is one of the few cities in the state without such legislation.

TENDS TO BEAUTIFY

The zoning ordinance tends to segregate factories, make exclusive residential districts, segregate business districts and create a city of beauty with conformity of building instead of placing factories and gas filling stations and stores in the heart of residential districts.

A building code provides the city with authority to regulate building, inspect plans before structures are started, determine as to fire hazards and have general supervision over all construction, which authority officials say would eliminate haphazard building.

Both the building code and zoning ordinance were before the commission and committee appointed for investigation but when no report was made Commissioner Cunningham demanded a showdown.

"We have postponed those things long enough. They are important and I believe we should get action by next Monday night," Cunningham said.

PLANNING COMMISSION

In connection with the two proposed measures the commission approved City Manager C. A. Bingham's recommendation for appointment of a planning committee to supervise opening of streets, width of streets, laying out of allotments within the city and other improvements creating new streets or additions to the city.

Many dead end streets have been opened without regard to proper width of streets and no system has been enforced here, according to Manager Bingham who plans a commission of five persons—the city manager, the mayor and three commissioners appointed by the city commission.

MANAGER BINGHAM WILL MAKE

appointments before any additions to the city are accepted they will have to meet with the approval of the planning commission.

3 ARE FOUND DEAD

Two Aged Men Starve After Their Sister Dies

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Death from starvation claimed Andre and Theodore Kater, 70 and 72 years old and blind since birth when their sister, Anna Kater, 65, who had cared for them, died suddenly, according to a report of police who yesterday found the bodies of the three in the building in which they had lived fifty years.

Dead for about ten days, the three were found by a small boy, who believing the building deserted, crawled thru a broken window in search of junk plumbing.

Neighbors recalled that the family once operated a prosperous bakery, but that the blind brothers seldom were seen. They owned considerable property in the vicinity. The sister devoted all of her time to ministering to the brothers after the death of their father, fourteen years ago.

TWO AUTOS STOLEN

Local police have received reports of the theft of automobiles stolen Monday evening. A Ford touring car belonging to C. N. Geran, 743 N. West, was stolen from the Ohio River Foundry about 7:30 p. m. A short time later Carl Griggs, Spencer, discovered his Ford touring car gone from W. Fourth-st. where it was parked.

DOCTORS URGE CITY SPEED UP NEW HOSPITAL

Medical Men Offer to Help Raise Funds to Buy Site If Such Action Is Necessary—Joint Meeting Will Be Held April 15

Impetus to demands for erection of the $600,000 city hospital voted at the November election was given Monday night with appearance before commission of members of Allen-co Medical society and their petition that commission start immediately to obtain suitable site.

Simultaneous with physicians' demands an offer of a free site was received from F. E. Harman, 1619 Lakewood-av., who offers the city a tract of land extending west of S. Collett-st to the east line of Faurot park and north to the north line of Faurot park, taking in all the land excepting that covered by Eureka and River-sts and a small portion owned by the city.

With acceptance by the city the only expense would be the payment of the 1924 tax levies on the tract, Harman stated in his letter which was read in commission and filed for future consideration.

Physicians in promising to cooperate toward erection of the hospital which they declare is badly needed to replace the old structure which they say has outlived its usefulness, agreed to raise money to purchase the site if no other means were available to get a suitable tract of land located for the most general good.

Dr. T. R. Terwilliger, spokesman of the hospital committee of the academy, stressed the need for action, assuring them that physicians were in no way concerned over location of the structure but vitally interested in getting the hospital started.

Dr. W. R. Neville, chairman of the physicians' committee, told the commission the erection of the new hospital is a business proposition and in selecting a site the commission should consider every detail carefully as the city has to maintain the institution and meet all deficits.

About 20 physicians were present. Commissioner Harold Cunningham in answer for the commission stated that the question as to whether the city had a legal right to appropriate part of the $600,000 bond issue for purchase of a site had delayed action.

Whether the city will have sufficient funds within two or three years to maintain the institution was also brought before the meeting by Commissioner Cunningham.

Selection of a site is up to the commission. After that, the mayor appoints a building committee to engage an architect and start construction. When the hospital is opened it is operated under jurisdiction of the city manager or a governing board appointed by him.

Solicitor Paul Landis in a ruling that the city has the legal right to use part of the $600,000 for purchase of a site opened way to a joint meeting of commissioners, physicians and representatives of the hospital board which is to be held on Tuesday, April 15, at City Hospital. Sites will be considered at that time.

BRIDGE PROGRAM IS APPROVED

Sanitary Engineer Contract Considered by County

Stamp of approval was placed on plans and estimates for the construction of three county bridges by county commissioners Monday.

The bridges are part of a list of more than a dozen structures planned to replace old bridges about the county.

The bridges approved are the Hill bridge, in Jackson-tp to cost $4,500, McBride's bridge in American-tp, estimated to cost $1,200.

Ludwig bridge, in Marion-tp, to cost $2,000.

Plans of other bridges now being drawn up by Ed. Smith, county surveyor and his assistants will be submitted to the commissioners soon.

NEGRO BANDIT IS RECOVERING

Confession Given to Police Holds Pal Guilty for Jobs

PREDICT MORE ARRESTS

Hunt Continues for Mysterious Night Time Thugs

James C. Clark, 45, of 1145 S. Metcalf-st, charged by police as one of the "mystery bandits" who terrorized the city for months, is recovering at City Hospital from wounds sustained early Sunday morning when shot by City Chemist J. R. Cuthbert, 891 W. Market-st, during an alleged holdup.

Hospital attaches announced that Clark passed a restful night Monday and they predict his recovery. He was shot in the abdomen and right hand.

Clark's capture came as a finale to his reported attempt to stick up Cuthbert as he was leaving the garage at his father's home early Sunday morning.

Cuthbert disregarded the command to throw up his hands and in the fusillade of shots from his 45 automatic two shots hit their mark in the bandit who staggered to his home and was later removed to City Hospital, police say.

Confession clearing up several robberies of the past month was voluntarily given by Clark, according to police who say he admitted the robbery of the Star Carpet Cleaning Co. and several minor jobs.

Police are following a clue that Clark escaped in an automobile after being shot by Cuthbert. Neighbors attracted by the shooting claim they saw a man run down an alley at the rear of Cuthbert's house and jump into an automobile driven by a white man.

Police Chief Lanker has a guard stationed at the hospital and as soon as Clark is sufficiently recovered he expects to obtain a complete confession clearing up the series of grocery store holdups and highway robberies.

The "second mystery man" is still at large with investigators probing into rumors of a third bandit who alternated in daring robberies and night time holdups.

Clark implicates a "second colored bandit" as the master mind of a majority of the jobs along with a "mystery white man."

Police hold Clark responsible for the Haage grocery store job, the robbery at the Allen drug store, holdup of D. J. McPherson, 1222 State-st, and robbery of the Sam C. Overholtz grocery.

Finding of an adding machine and a typewriter in Clark's room conclusively clinched the case against Clark for the Star Carpet Cleaning Co. robbery, according to police who say they obtained his confession at the hospital.

Prosecuting Attorney Eugene Lippincott and County Detective Roy Bowersock are working with police and from further questioning of Clark they expect to round up others implicated. At least two more arrests are expected.

PRIMARY ON TODAY

NEW ORLEANS — A Democratic primary to select a nominee to succeed the late Representative H. Garland Dupre for the unexpired term ending March 4, 1925, is being held in the second congressional district today, with, for the first time in the history of Louisiana, a woman as a candidate for a seat in the national house of representatives.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

DAYTON — Donald Keller, four-year-old boy, was crushed to death yesterday under a gravel truck driven by Fred Harris. The child was riding on a tricycle, lost control of it and coasted down an embankment, directly in front of the truck.

MESSANGER SLUGGED BY FOUR THUGS

Postal Clerk Overpowered and Robbed in Chicago Suburb

2 REGISTERED SACKS TAKEN

Consigned by Reserve Bank to Harvey Institution

CHICAGO — (Associated Press) — Four bandits held up a postal messenger in Harvey, a suburb, early today and escaped with two sacks of mail reported to contain between $110,000 and $150,000 in currency consigned to manufacturing companies.

The robbers intercepted William Russell, a postoffice clerk, who was carrying the mail sacks from a railroad station to the postoffice. The robbers seized the two sacks containing the money and escaped in an automobile.

Russell, who is sixty years old, was slugged by the bandits, he reported. He was removing the mail sacks from the Illinois Central platform to a mail truck when attacked. He said that all the bandits had revolvers and that he saw saved off shotguns in their car as they drove away.

ROBBERS FLEE

The two sacks stolen contained only registered mail.

The robbers were reported to have fled toward Chicago.

Harvey is a small manufacturing city beyond the southern limits of Chicago.

At the postoffice it was said that the loss would be large but the exact amount could only be determined by checking. The two sacks were said to have been consigned by the Federal Reserve Bank to the First National Bank of Harvey.

BANKER CALLED IN OIL PROBE

Will be Quizzed As to Fall's Financial Affairs

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — More information about the financial affairs of Albert B. Fall was sought today by the oil committee, which also was prepared to go further into the 1920 campaign deficit of the Republican national committee.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National Bank of Pueblo, Colo., was the witness called for examination relative to Fall's affairs.

Another Banker—Lewis W. Baldwin, president of the Empire Trust Co. of New York—was under subpoena in connection with the Republican deficit, having been summoned yesterday after the committee had received conflicting statements relative to the story in the New York Times saying it was understood that Will H. Hays, former chairman of the Republican national committee, would testify that Sinclair securities had figured in the financing.

Hays later testified he had asked Harry F. Sinclair to contribute to a fund then being raised for retirement of a note held by the Empire Trust Company and, as he recollected the incident, the oil magnate had agreed to give $75,000. The committee decided to call the banker to ascertain the nature of collateral used to secure the note.

The senate's action yesterday in declining to certify contempt proceedings growing out of Sinclair's refusal to testify further is expected to result in swift action on the part of Peyton Gordon, district attorney for the District of Columbia.

FORMER DRY CHIEF TO

WIELD PICK, SHOVEL

NEW YORK — William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, today begins serving his term of form one to two years in Sing Sing prison.

Anderson was convicted last January of third degree forgery in ordering a falsification of the league's books so as to conceal his receipt of a $4,400 split on commissions of one of the organization's fund solicitors.

The end of the dry leader's long fight for acquittal came with a decision by Supreme Court Justice Wagner denying motion for a certification of reasonable doubt.

Anderson probably will be put to work immediately with a pick and shovel. Warden Lewis F. Lawes said yesterday. After a short period of hard manual labor, which is the lot of all newcomers at the prison, the ex-prohibition chief will be assigned to clerical work.

GOVERNOR ON TRIAL

Indianapolis is witnessing the strange spectacle of a governor on trial. The case of Warren T. McCray, Indiana's chief executive, is being heard there. He is charged with embezzlement of state funds. Here is the governor (left) arriving at the courthouse with James W. Noel, one of his attorneys.

SAFEGUARD ON SEWERS IS PLANNED BY CITY

Legislation to Affect Additions Ordered by Commission

JONES PROPOSES MEASURE

Engineers May Get Data at City Building

Steps to safeguard the city's sewerage system against inferior disposal systems in allotments just outside of the city and which will eventually be admitted to the city were taken Monday night by the city commission in ordering Solicitor Landis to prepare protection legislation.

Commissioner Ellis Jones, father of the movement, advocates conformity of sewer plans in allotments with those adopted by the city upon recommendation of Fuller & McClintock after their survey.

PROBABLE LOSS SEEN

Practically all the additions now being developed will be admitted to the city at some time and if precautions are not taken, officials say, the city will be compelled to assume a heavy expense to install a satisfactory sewerage system to join with the present system.

Plans completed in the sewerage survey are based on rapid expansion of the city to a population of 100,000 and these plans are obtainable at city hall and can be used for reference of engineers in charge of development of the various districts, according to officials who state that sewerage conditions will have to meet with their approval before land is annexed.

ADMITS MURDER

New York Man Confesses Killing His Landlady

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Implicated by his conscience-stricken bride, Harry Fenton, 21, has admitted murdering Mrs. Mary Coleman, his sixty year old landlady, with a hammer and burning her body after saturating it with kerosene, according to the police.

Miss Coleman's body was found two weeks ago when firemen extinguished a blaze in her bed room. It was burned beyond recognition and no suspicions were aroused.

Fenton would have probably escaped detection, police said, had not his wife become conscientious and informed them of the crime.

The story seemed so improbable to detectives that they investigated for several days before arresting Fenton yesterday. He gave robbery as the reason for the crime and said he found $15 in the woman's room.

OFFICERS ARE HELD AT BAY BY FUGITIVE

Altho Wounded, William Everhardt Makes Desperate Stand

IN IMPROVISED FORTRESS

Brother is Brought Here—Wounded Sheriff Back

At bay, altho wounded in one leg and his body, William Everhardt, Lima outlaw, is making a desperate stand on a wooded hillside near Maamtown, according to reports made to Cincinnati police Tuesday.

He is surrounded on all sides by a strong posse of heavily armed officers, who are unable to rout him from his improvised fortress.

Two heavily armed 45-caliber revolvers and seemingly an unlimited amount of ammunition are known to be in possession of the fugitive, IN ROUGH COUNTRY

Scenes of the battle now in progress is in a rough broken country contiguous to the Miami river about 20 miles northwest of Cincinnati. Harry Everhardt was brought to Lima early Tuesday and lodged temporarily in the police station by Detectives Gayman and Rice.

They returned later, and took Everhardt to Kenton, where they thought they would turn him over to Hardin-co authorities.

Harry Everhardt, is said to be under indictment in connection with holding up, and robbing William Cosart, McGuffey grocer of $700 a year ago.

Deputy Sheriff Al Smith, wounded in the fight Sunday, returned to Lima Monday night. He told of the fight with Everhardt.

The bullet which struck him grazed his right hand just back of the knuckle of the forefinger, cutting out a small piece of flesh in its course.

"We came to the Milton farm about 2 p. m.," Smith said. "A marshal from Harrison was with us. He knew every foot of the country which is rough, broken and in places thickly wooded."

NO COVER "The house is situated in a low valley," Smith said, "with absolutely no cover to hide an approach. We had to circle the place and walk right up in the open."

"Everhardt was fixing his car. When we were some distance away he saw us and the marshal came running from the north side of the house."

"I ran to the barn where we learned later he kept ammunition. He came out in a minute and commenced shooting."

"Gayman and Rice opened fire. Everhardt was up on a picket fence when I got around the barn. I blazed away. All three of us shot together, as he stood on the top of the fence."

"I saw him stagger, and fall off the fence. I think he was hit. But he jumped up and ran across an open field, stopping now and then to shoot at us."

REACHES WOODS "He got into the woods on the other side of the field," Smith continued. "We three were tight after him. Harry Everhardt was picked up as we were going in and the marshal had him and stayed back."

Everhardt, I thought would get into a long ravine that was 20 feet deep in some places but he crossed it going knee deep in water."

Gayman was right after him. The woods were thick, full of brush, and he cut up with ravines and holes. We were soon covered with mud, our clothes were torn, and we were sweating like butchers. I never was so tired in my life. Gayman was all in, but stayed with us. I never thought I could stand to run around the way we did."

"We worked across the woods about and about 10 yards apart. Everhardt kept popping at us and we shot back every time he shot. He got into a field that had some cover in it and into another dense woods, worse than the first."

LOST IN DARK "It was getting dark, and we lost him," concluded Smith. "I'm sure we hit him, but he was game and kept going."

The chase according to Smith, led in a westerly direction over the Indiana line.

Arrival of the officers, Smith blithely, for a time at least, a romance between Everhardt and a woman, Milton, 17. They were to have been married Wednesday.

After eluding the posse, Everhardt, is thought to have found shelter with friends in Indiana, who may have smuggled him into Cincinnati in a car.

Harry Everhardt is locked in jail at Harrison, and will be brought to Kenton to face charges of participating in the Cosart robbery, March 13, 1923.

Sanitary Engineer Contract Considered by County

Stamp of approval was placed on plans and estimates for the construction of three county bridges by county commissioners Monday.

The bridges are part of a list of more than a dozen structures planned to replace old bridges about the county.

Sinclair to contribute to a fund then being raised for retirement of a note held by the Empire Trust Company and, as he recollected, the incident, the oil magnate had agreed to give $75,000. The committee decided to call the banker to ascertain the nature of collateral used to secure the note.

The senate's action yesterday in declining to certify contempt proceedings growing out of Sinclair's refusal to testify further is expected to result in swift action on the part of Peyton Gordon, district attorney for the District of Columbia.

FORMER DRY CHIEF TO WIELD PICK, SHOVEL

NEW YORK — William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, today begins serving his term of four years to two years in Sing Sing prison.

Anderson was convicted last January of third degree forgery in obtaining a $4,400 split on commissions of one of the organization's fund solicitors.

The end of the dry leader's long fight for actual court justice was denied by Supreme Court Justice Wagner denying motion for a certification of reasonable doubt.

Anderson probably will be put to work immediately with a pick and shovel, Warden Lewis F. Lawes said yesterday. After a short period of hard manual labor, which is the lot of all newcomers at the prison, the ex-prohibition chief will be assigned to clerical work.

SAFEGUARD ON SEWERS IS PLANNED BY CITY

Legislation to Affect Additions Ordered by Commission

JONES PROPOSES MEASURE

Engineers May Get Data at City Building

Steps to safeguard the city's sewerage system against inferior disposal systems in allotments just outside of the city and which will eventually be admitted to the city were taken Monday night by the city commission in ordering Solicitor Landis to prepare protection legislation.

Commissioner Ellis Jones, father of the movement, advocates conformity of sewer plans in allotments with those adopted by the city upon recommendation of Fuller & McClintock after their survey.

PROBABLE LOSS SEEN

Precisely all the additions now being developed will be admitted to the city at some time and if precautions are not taken, officials say, the city will be compelled to assume a heavy expense to install a satisfactory sewerage system to join with the present system.

Plans completed in the sewerage survey are based on rapid expansion of the city to a population of 100,000 and these plans are obtainable at city hall and can be used for reference of engineers in charge of development of the various districts, according to officials who state that sewerage conditions will have to meet with their approval before land is annexed.

ADMITS MURDER

New York Man Confesses Killing His Landlady

NEW YORK — (Associated Press) — Implicated by his conscience stricken bride, Harry Fenton, 21, has admitted murdering Miss Mary Coleman, his sixty year old landlady, with a hammer and burning her body after saturating it with kerosene, according to the police.

Miss Coleman's body was found two weeks ago when firemen extinguished a blaze in her bed room. It was burned beyond recognition and no suspicions were aroused.

Fenton would have probably escaped detection, police said, had not his wife become conscience stricken and informed them of the crime.

The story seemed so improbable to detectives that they investigated for several days before arresting Fenton yesterday. He gave robbery as the reason for the crime and said he found $15 in the woman's room.

CHARGE OF MISSING MONEY INVESTIGATED

Stachowicz was fined $2,000 in justice of the peace court yesterday on charges of selling and possessing liquor.

OFFICERS ARE HELD AT BAY BY FUGITIVE

Altho Wounded, William Everhardt Makes Desperate Stand

IN IMPROVISED FORTRESS

Brother is Brought Here—Wounded Sheriff Back

At bay, altho wounded in one leg and his body, William Everhardt, Lima outlaw, is making a desperate stand on a wooded hillside near Miamitown, according to reports made to Cincinnati police Tuesday.

He is surrounded on all sides by a strong posse of heavily armed officers, who are unable to rout him from his improvised fortress.

Two heavily armed .45-caliber revolvers and seemingly an unlimited amount of ammunition are known to be in possession of the fugitive, IN ROUGH COUNTRY

Scenes of the battle now in progress is in a rough broken country contiguous to the Miami river about 10 miles northwest of Cincinnati. Harry Everhardt was brought to Lima early Tuesday and lodged temporarily in the police station by Detectives Gayman and Rice.

They returned later, and took Everhardt to Kenton, where they said they would turn him over to Hardin-co authorities.

Harry Everhardt, is said to be under indictment in connection with holding up and robbing William Cleary, McGuffey grocer of $700 a year ago.

Deputy Sheriff Al Smith, wounded in the fight Sunday, returned to Lima Monday night. He told of the fight with Everhardt.

The bullet which struck him grazed his right hand just back of the knuckle of the forefinger, cutting out a small piece of flesh in its course.

"We came to the Milton farm about 2 p. m.," Smith said. "A marshal from Harrison was with us. He knew every foot of the country which is rough, broken and in places thickly wooded."

"The house was situated in a low valley," Smith said, "with absolutely no cover to hide an approach. We had to circle the place and walk right up to the open door."

"Everhardt was fixing his car. When we were some distance away, he saw Gayman and the marshal came round the north side of the house."

"He ran to the barn where we learned later he kept ammunition. He came out in a minute and commenced shooting."

"Gayman and Rice opened fire. Everhardt was up on a picket fence when I got into the barn. I blazed away. All three of us shot together, as he stood on the top of the fence."

"I saw him stagger, and fall off the fence. I think he was hit. But he jumped up and ran across an open field, stopping now and then to shoot at us."

"REACHES WOODS

"He got into the woods on the other side of the field," Smith continued. "We three were right after him. Harry Everhardt was picked up as we were going in and the marshal had him and stayed back."

"Everhardt, I thought would get into a long ravine that was 20 feet deep in some places, but he crossed it going knee deep in water."

Gayman was right after him. The woods were thick, full of brush, and cut up with ruts and holes. We were soon covered with mud, our clothes were torn, and we were sweating like butchers. I never was so tired in my life. Gayman was all in, but stayed with us. I never thought I could stand to run around the way we did."

"We worked across the woods abreast and about 10 yards apart. Everhardt kept popping at us and we shot back every time he shot. He got into a field that had some cover in it and fired another dense woods, worse than the first."

LOST IN DARK

"It was getting dark, and we lost him," concluded Smith. "I'm sure we hit him, but he was game and kept going."

The chase, according to Smith, led in a westerly direction over the Indiana line.

Arrival of the officers, Smith said, delayed for a time at least a romance between Everhardt and Emma Milton, 17. They were to have been married Wednesday.

After eluding the posse, Everhardt is thought to have found shelter with friends in Indiana, who may have smuggled him into Cincinnati in a car.

Harry Everhardt is locked in jail at Harrison, and will be brought to Kenton to face charges of parole passing in the Cozart robbery, March 13, 1923.

BANKER IS QUESTIONED IN TEAPOT PRO

TELLS OF FALL'S FINANCES

Loans to Former Secretary of Interior Explained

$32,000 STILL TRACED

Source of This Sum Declared Undisclosed

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — Further inquiry into the financial affairs of Albert B. Fall and into stock speculation by high officials was made today by the oil committee at a brief and colorful session. It then adjourned until Thursday.

M. D. Thatcher, president of the First National Bank of Pueblo, Colo., was questioned about Fall's bank account and afterward Senator Walsh, the committee prosecutor, announced that the checkup showed that the former interior secretary had acquired $32,000 for the purchase of ranch property from a source yet undiscovered. It previously had been indicated, the senator said, that the funds might have come from the Thatcher interests.

From Anderson H. Tackett, an accountant, the committee received further details regarding the dummy stock accounts of Jesse W. Smith, the close friend of Attorney General Daugherty. The witness said he had been told that one of these accounts was carried jointly by Smith and the attorney general.

While the committee was in session, senate officials formally turned over to the district attorney the case of Harry F. Sinclair, cited for contempt because of his refusal to testify.

Thatcher explained that all of the loans he had listed were made by the M. D. Thatcher company.

Asked whether Fall got any loans except these in the name of the cattle company, the witness replied:

"Nothing during the period you speak of."

"Was there any other?" asked Senator Adams, Democrat, Colorado.

"There was a loan to Fall in January, 1921 of $15,000. That was to cover loans carried over from 1916 or 1917."

"Were there any other records in your bank of people connected with Mr. Fall showing any loans?" asked Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington.

"Mr. Everhart had an account."

"Did you loan him thru your company?"

"He had an interest with us. He was our manager in Colorado and New Mexico."

"No loans to him in relation to the Fall ranch?"

"Nothing that I know of."

The witness said Fall had been a customer of the bank since 1913 or 1914.

"Did the bank make any loan to him during 1921?" asked Senator Walsh.

"I have the records here. No sir," said the witness.

"Or 1922?"

"No sir."

Thatcher said Fall borrowed $15,000 from the bank in 1916 and paid it in May 1922.

Asked about Fall's statement to the committee that he arranged to get funds from the M. D. Thatcher estate, Thatcher said the Tres Rios Cattle Company (Fall's company) had done so.

"What do you know about that transaction?" asked Senator Walsh.

"We made some loans to the Tres Rios Cattle Company. We loaned them $100,000 and there is an overdraft of about $22,000 which has probably been consolidated into a note. It was loaned in separate notes running from $5,000 to $10,000. There may have been some of $15,000. The amounts were drawn until they reached a round figure when a note would be drawn to cover."

LONGWORTH TAX PLAN DROPPED

Mellon Income Rates Are Again in Revenue Bill

SENATE BODY VOTES CHANGE

Democrats Line up Solidly Against Alteration

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press) — The income tax rates proposed by Secretary Mellon are again in the revenue bill.

Proceeding with unexpected speed in its consideration of the bill last night, the senate finance committee launched into the income section and by a vote of eight to seven, substituted the Mellon rates for the Longworth compromise adopted by the house.

Democrats of the committee, who have been working on a substitute for the Longworth rates, were not ready to offer a counter proposal and voted solidly against the Mellon rates.

Chairman Smoot said a motion to reopen the income schedule for committee action would be decided by the committee.

Four Republicans and five Democrats were present last night. The votes of Senators Reed, Missouri, and Gerry, Rhode Island, the absent Democrats, were cast by proxy against the Mellon rates.

section, the main controversial subject of the bill, the committee was given an opportunity to center its work now on the miscellaneous tax schedules, with prospects of making a report to the senate within two weeks.

The Mellon rates provide for a maximum surtax of 26 per cent on incomes in excess of $100,000 and normal rates of three per cent on incomes below $4,000 and six per cent above that amount.

Little indication has been given of the stand the Republicans in the senate will take on the rate question.

How to Banish Piles

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID. The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay, Hunter's Drug Stores and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with a guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.—Adv.

WAS DISCOURAGED ABOUT HERSELF

Then Found Plant Juice and Got Relief From Stomach, Kidney Trouble

FEELING BETTER ALL OVER

"My advice to people who are suffering is not to wait any longer but to get Plant Juice at once because I know that it does all and even more than is claimed," said Mrs. Bessie Brannigan, who lives at 360 West Twenty-First Street, New York City, while talking recently with the Plant Juice Man.

MRS. BESSIE BRANNIGAN

"For years I had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia and could hardly keep the lightest food on my stomach," Mrs. Brannigan continued. "I bloated with gas, had headaches and was so nervous I could not sleep and felt utterly worn out most of the time. And my liver and kidneys were disordered so that I had terrible pains in my back and was badly constipated. My complexion was sallow. I had dark circles under my eyes. I surely was discouraged about my condition for I had tried everything and even went to California, but without results.

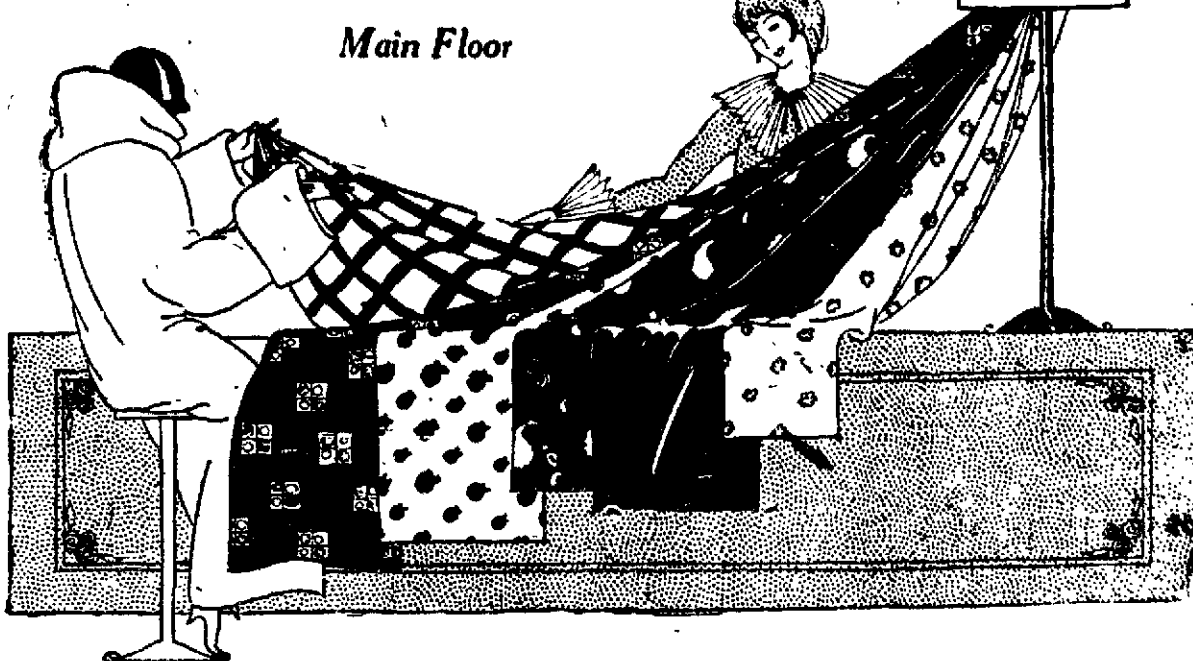

"Then one day a friend told me about Plant Juice and recommended it to me so highly that I began to have faith in it and started taking it. I have now taken several bottles and surely am greatly improved. I have a good appetite and can eat most anything and enjoy my meals for I do not have bad after effects. And my liver and kidneys are in good condition now; pains have left my back and I have been relieved of the constipation. Besides this, my nerves have been quieted so that I sleep like a child. My complexion has improved and I have gained weight and strength, and, in short, am better all over.

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at the Hunter drug stores, 49 Public Square at Main and Wayne streets; also at the Argonne drug store, oppo. Post Office. adv

ENGLISH OUT TO BEAT AMERICANS

Aviators Start on Flight to Circle Globe

CALSHOT, England. — (United Press) — The British round the world flyers hopped off from here at 12:09 p. m. today, bent upon being the first to encircle the globe in the air.

The weather was fair and sunny, after showers earlier in the day and the flyers were confident of reaching Lyons without mishap.

Mrs. MacLaren, wife of the commander of the flight, and her six-year-old daughter, were at the field to see the big plane take off.

They both kissed the commander before he stepped in his plane and signalled the mechanics to move ready.

There was a roar from the motors and the three planes moved down the field to the take-off.

Mrs. MacLaren and her daughter waved gallantly as the commander's machine took to the air.

"We're not afraid," Mrs. MacLaren said, bravely laughing at the child. "We know they'll get back safely."

ST. JOHNS QUINTEY WILL MEET FREMONT FIVE AT THAT PLACE FRIDAY EVE.

DELPHOS — H. Tim, manager of St. John's basketball team, announced Tuesday that a game with St. Joseph's high school would be played at Fremont Friday night. The northern Ohio team have a good record on the court and have few defeats charged to them.

That the St. Joseph quintet figure they can win is very evident by the number of times they have asked Tim for a game. He at last consented to make the trip, although such a drive means the ability of a player slightly less, the team here contends that a victory is in sight. The locals by no means intend to spoil their exceptional good record by relinquishing easy play.

This game will not doubt be a surprise to many of the Delphos fans, and will be a game valuable for it will not doubt be the last of the season. The spirit is high and many will not doubt the trip with the team.

VAN WERT BRIEFS

Sheriff D. E. Terry announced Tuesday that the ban on dogs without tags would be applied more strictly in the future, and that owners with said dogs would be fined.

Many dogs have been snatched and were killed by the gas method.

After parents of more than 2,000 students in Van Wert high schools gave their consent to have the Schick test for diphtheria administered to the children, the city and county district boards of health were notified that two physicians from the state department of health would arrive in Van Wert, Tuesday to take up the work in the schools.

What Growing Children Need

EVERY mother knows that a growing family needs much nourishing food. Boys and girls need energy for their school-work and their play. Every member of the family must be kept in the best of condition.

One of the greatest of all energy-producing foods is Karo. One reason is that it contains a large proportion of Dextrose, the great energy food.

Also, Karo is one of the most economical of all foods. Not only does it cost so little but it can be used for so many purposes. Karo takes the place of high priced preserves.

You can use it for sweetening in all kinds of cooking, baking, and for stewing prunes and dried fruits.

Ask your grocer for Blue Label Karo or Red Label Karo—both equal in nutrition.

THREE JAILED IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Charged With Murder of Osteopath at Kansas City

VISITOR AMONG SUSPECTS

Fails to Explain Movements on Night of Tragedy.

KANSAS CITY — (Associated Press) — B. F. Trapley, Charles Wilkins and Dillard Davies, negro, are in jail today charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying here of Dr. Zoe Wilkins, osteopath, following a coroner's hearing today.

Trapley's failure to make certain explanations at the hearing and discrepancies in the negro's statement concerning his movements on the night the murder is believed to have been committed, prompted James Anderson, assistant prosecutor, to request that charges be filed against these men, he said.

Testimony of friends of Dr. Wilkins telling of alleged conversations with the woman, in which she spoke of quarrels with her brother, coupled with the fact he caused her dog—her "only protection"—to be killed led to the filing of charges against Charles Wilkins.

Trapley was said to be a frequent visitor at the Wilkins' home.

Davies was employed by Dr. Wilkins as a janitor.

PROBE OF LAND FRAUD CHARGES IS RESUMED

WASHINGTON — Further correspondence between officials in Washington and prominent men who were interested in the status of inquiries into land companies operating in the lower Rio Grande valley, of Texas, was presented to the special subcommittee of the senate postoffice and post roads committee today when it resumed investigation of the matter.

James R. Page, counsel for some six hundred purchasers of valley lands, was on hand with an armful of telegrams, letters and memoranda from the files of the department of justice and postoffice department. He told the investigators the record would show that the postoffice department's inquiry into operations of Alamo Land and Sugar Company and other companies operating in Texas had been dropped after K. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from that state, and other officials of the land corporations, had visited government officials in Washington.

RELIEF RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON — The senate received today the Fish resolution as adopted by the house to appropriate $10,000,000 for the purchase of food supplies for destitute women and children in Germany. Acting after a three hours debate in which the constitutionality of the measure was attacked and defended, the house last night approved the bill, 240 to 97.

As adopted the bill, offered by Representative Fish, Republican, New York, a former service man, carries an amendment stipulating that the supplies shall be purchased wherever possible thru farmers organizations.

A PLEASING EXPRESSION

Is more fascinating when teeth are perfect and well set.

A replaced tooth is usually a pleasant surprise to your friends, as well as an aid to more thorough mastication. The grinding of food is more evenly distributed when there are a sufficient number of good teeth.

You will enjoy the usefulness of teeth that I replace and the need of them is likely greater than you may realize.

Prices are no more than the careless dentist charges.

SOUTH DAKOTA IS VOTING TODAY

Light Ballot in Presidential Primary is Expected

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., (United Press) — A light vote was in prospect today as South Dakota voters went to the polls in the state's presidential primary.

Clouds and threatening rain kept many away from the polling places.

The voters are casting their presidential choice in the Republican and Democratic parties and the Farmer-Labor Party may have Robert M. La Follette as their choice of the new third party yet to be formed.

Nominations for United States senator, governor and other state offices also are to be named by the three parties.

The struggle between the Republican and Farmer-Labor parties for the nomination of a candidate for the national convention and presidential choice is the outstanding contest of the primary.

Of equal importance to South Dakota is the fight between Senator George C. Thompson, against Mrs. Goldie Thompson.

The two were married a year ago in Kokomo, but could not agree, according to the husband. His wife was away from home all the time he says. He also charges that she knew some other men and went about drinking with them, staying out all night, sometimes.

On January 8, he charges, she left him, taking with her a number of valuable articles.

DRINKING IS CHARGED TO WIFE IN PETITION

Charges that his spouse attended all night drinking parties and carried a picture of another man are contained in a divorce petition filed in common pleas court Tuesday by George C. Thompson, against Mrs. Goldie Thompson.

THOUSANDS PRAISE PEPGEN NEW GLAND MEDICINE NOW AT HUNTER'S DRUG STORES

On last Saturday, said Mr. Chas. M. Hunter, head of the Hunter's Drug Stores, the demand for this new medicine for stomach, kidney and liver ills has double that of any day since its introduction in Lima. I have had to wire for additional shipments to be sent me by express.

The merit of this medicine has been proven to the people of Lima. Thousands of bottles have been sold here and large numbers of well known local citizens have given written statements testifying to its value.

Typical of these statements is that of Mrs. C. N. Zahrend, of 824 East Fourth Street.

"Pepgen has surely been of great benefit to my daughter Vera, who is now eighteen years old. Just a year ago my daughter had a bad attack of flu. It left her in a very weakened condition. This winter she was unable to keep up with her school work. Her stomach was in very bad shape, and she was very nervous. I was surely worried about her health. In the morning was when she seemed worse. She would have a dull headache and felt tired and completely worn out.

"I began giving her Pepgen just a month ago. The results have been wonderful. Now her appetite is fine and she does not complain of any stomach trouble. She is getting stronger every day, and has gained almost ten pounds in weight. Pepgen is surely a good medicine."

CAUTION: The genuine Pepgen is packed in a white and blue carton and may be obtained in Lima only at Hunter's Drug Store, 49 Public Square and Paramount Drug Store, corner Main and Wayne Sts. and The Argonne Store. There is a Pepgen store in every nearby town.

YOUR SHRINKING DOLLARS

At the bottom of an old trunk, a Lima man finds a silver dollar in a pair of trousers he packed away just before the war started in 1914.

This dollar now will buy only as much as 60 cents would have bought in 1914.

In effect, 40 cents of the original dollar has disappeared. That is, 40 per cent of its buying power has vanished, as a result of the increased cost of living.

He has always been thrifty, but he is wondering if he wouldn't have been better off if he had spent the dollar in 1914.

On the other hand, 10 years have passed since then. If he had put the dollar in a bank at 4 per cent compound interest, it would have increased to $2 by the year 1923. Money at 4 per cent doubles in 17 years 216 days.

This phenomenal power of compound interest, however, has just about been cancelled by depreciation of buying power, due to higher prices we have to pay now.

The most pathetic sight in Germany is the aged couple who saved for years to provide for their old age, and now find their life savings wiped out by the collapse of the mark's value.

But did it ever occur to you, that the same thing on a smaller scale has happened right here in America?

Hundreds of thousands of old people thought they had saved enough to care for them in their old age. The rise in cost of living has reduced the buying power of their savings by 40 per cent.

As usual, it's a poor rule that won't work both ways. And 60 cents saved now will be worth about $1 later, not counting any increase by interest, provided the buying power of the dollar eventually returns to normal.

Whether the dollar will ever return to normal, is debatable. Few economists expect any sudden return. But history has the reputation of always repeating. And history shows that prices travel in 50-year-cycles—roughly, up for 20 years, then down for 30 years, then up again, later down, so on.

Lately prices have been rising again, but they're still much lower than at the peak of the cost of living in 1920. Viewed as a long-range proposition, we may be on the down path again.

Twenty or even 30 years may pass before cost of living gets back to its old-time level, supposing that it ever will. That's just about when old age will be creeping up to many of us. Regardless of how far the cost of living will finally drop, the dollar saved now will be worth much more later in buying power.

SCANDALS DEFENDED

In connection with the disclosures made in the Teapot Dome oil probe at Washington, one of the most amazing things is the apparently deliberate policy of official Republicanism to discredit the revelations in one way or another, and stand by the officials who have been besmirched with oil, fight films, whisky releases, tax refunders or pelf from the soldier rehabilitation bureau.

The cue for this sort of plan was given by the Republican National committee, in the defense of persons involved in the scandals and defying public opinion. John T. Adams, chairman, and George B. Lockwood, secretary of the Republican National committee, have used the national Republican organ of the party, to uphold Daugherty and Denby and Fall, while attacking Senators Walsh, Wheeler and others who have been conspicuous in exposing corruption in the administration. Apparently President Coolidge is influenced by this attitude and strategy, since he made a fight for the retention of Denby and Daugherty almost precisely along the same lines followed by the Republican National committee.

Republicans in official positions at Washington are members of one of the Republican state clubs organized and controlled by the Republican National committee. These are federated into a league of Republican state clubs. Edgar C. Snyder, an official of the federal court, is the president of the league of clubs. At the latest meeting of his organization President Snyder declared that the Teapot Dome investigation "is merely political hysteria and nothing more," and that "it will be dissipated by June."

W. C. Connor, past president of the league, took the same comfortable view of the worst scandal in the history of the United States. "It is pure politics and nothing deeper," Snyder declared. Democrats and independents are commenting that this plan of campaign is either the result of egregious stupidity or utter disregard of popular standards of decency. It looks like there is disaster ahead for President Coolidge and his party.

SESAME OIL

The fifth article in The Medicine Cupboard, oil of sesame, is difficult to get. It is sometimes called teel oil and benne oil. The unadulterated sesame oil can be obtained, but since it is so rarely called for the druggist probably won't have it on hand. He can get it for you, however, thru the regular channels of supply. If not, then you'll have to use a substitute for this item in your medicine cupboard, and either sweet almond oil or olive oil may be selected, but sesame oil is superior because it keeps better and when applied to the skin does not tend to clog as other oils do.

Heat some of the oil by standing the bottle in hot water, and dissolve some camphor in it—about half an ounce of camphor for two ounces of oil. This makes a camphor liniment which is more familiar nowadays as camphorated oil, which when thus freshly made, is an excellent embrocation for children with bronchitis, pneumonia or coryza. It may be rubbed upon the chest night and morning, or in coryza over the bridge of the nose, but when camphorated oil is applied to the chest of an infant or young child wipe off all excess when you finish the rubbing, so that it will not saturate the clothing or nightdress. This embrocation is always preferable to mustard or turpentine or other irritants when a child is ill. As camphor is volatile, the liniment or oil loses its strength on standing long, so it is better to prepare only an ounce or two as needed.

Persons troubled with harsh dry skin or dandruff of scalp and hair will find sesame oil satisfactory. A few drops of it applied to the skin will serve the purpose.

This formula makes an elegant preparation for use on skin or scalp: Benzoin ..... 20 grains
Absolute alcohol ..... 12 drops
Sesame oil ..... 1 ounce
The benzoin must be well rubbed up with the oil, then heated for two or three hours by standing the vessel within another which contains water, the absolute alcohol added, and the whole filtered or strained. Not a bad idea to have the druggist prepare the whole supply of sesame oil after this formula and keep it in that way—it is likely to turn rancid. Johnny will find it as satisfactory for giving his hair that patent leather finish as mother will for freshening up her complexion or father his razor stop, and it is all right to prepare camphorated liniment for rubbing the baby's chest and throat with when he begins to choke up with a bad coryza, as babies do.

Milk of Magnesia

Milk of magnesia is a good anti-acid, when it is desired to neutralize acidity in the mouth, and also a laxative, acting like salts, only more mildly and particularly when there is much acid or sourness in the stomach. A teaspoonful or two is the dose for a child. It may be given from the spoon or in milk. It has little taste. It may be taken by adults who crave an alkali to oppose acidity in the stomach, or for heartburn, and has the advantage over saleratus (sodium bicarbonate) of not giving rise to the formation of gas itself, but of course is more efficient when taken many times a day. A few doses of a spoonful every half hour or hourly until the laxative effect is obtained will relieve some headaches associated with sour stomach. When a more vigorous catharsis is desirable, a half bottle or whole bottle of the citrate of magnesia solution is better—this is about the only agreeable form in which a saline cathartic may be taken.

JUST FOLKS

—BY EDGAR A. GUEST—

DREAMS OF A CAR-OWNER
I can hear the springtime calling
as I tinker with my car,
And I want to be out driving where the hills and valleys are.
I want the open country with its pictures of the spring,
The miles of rolling roadway and the orchards blossoming;
I want to hear the chatter of the blackbirds once again,
And I want my car to take me from the busy haunts of men.

Oh, 'tis more than miles of service that my motor gives to me—
There's the glory of the hill top and the beauty of a tree,
There are lakes of placid silver,
which I fancy, as I pass,
Must be used by all the angels for their morning looking glass;
There's the fragrance of the clover, there's the sweet smell of the pine,
And the smiles of distant neighbors
—and the old car makes them mine!

Round about me as I tinker with these bolts of iron and steel,
Are the visions of enchantment which the distance shall reveal.
All the treasures of the springtime
I have but to go and share;
Not in vain does beauty call me, for my car will take me there.
I can fish the streams of boyhood, I can wander where I will,
And at Mother Nature's table I can stop and take my fill.

Oh, I don't know how to tell it, but this good old car of mine—
Not as rich, as strong, as splendid as some others in the line—
Is my lamp of young Aladdin. When I'm hungry for the trees,
And the music of the song birds
and the droning of the bees,
And a far friend's merry laughter,
I have but to ride away
From the gray walls of the city and the burdens of the day.

Fellowship of Prayer

(Copyright, 1924)

Read Mt. 19:23-33. Text: 19:29.
But many shall be last that are first, and first that are last.
"All badness, or sin, toward God is necessarily also sin against society, for God is set on producing a certain social result. The bad man sets himself against the great upward trend of the moral evolution of mankind, which the will of God is vitalizing. In the midst of an evolution in which all men ought to say, 'What the world needs we will all work together with the will of God to get,' he says, 'What I want I take.'"

MEDITATION: Whenever a man uses his possessions merely for his own gratification they become a curse, for they turn the stream of life back upon itself and dam the outflow of the spirit which alone enlarges life. The selfish man, however much he may have of possessions or position, finds himself growing in loneliness as these things cut him off from his fellows, until by closing all the windows of his soul he shuts himself away from all mankind.

PERSONAL QUESTION: What are the self-centered motives in my life?

PRAYER: Almighty God, may there be springs of unselfishness in all our lives. May healing streams of benevolence and sympathy flow from us into the desert places of life. Let thy spirit dawn upon our lives. Let the darkness of sin and selfishness be banished from our souls, in Christ's name. Amen.

Kansas City Doctor Invents New Treatment

New Discovery Heals Rupture Without An Operation.
Kansas City, Mo. (Special)—A new discovery, which experts agree, has no equal for curative efforts in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of the well-known Hernia Specialist, Dr. Andrews, 709 1/2 Kott Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and holds a rupture. It weighs only a few ounces. Has no hard going pads, no elastic belt, no ice straps, no steel bands, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The News and Times-Democrat who writes him. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.—Adv.

(Copyright, 1924.)

At the heppe, and no zeal for my stunt, but after while came Dan known. Who made discourse on his revealing experiences in 'gay Hollywood.

Lunched at the Friedman House, with Rotarians and Attorney General Crabbe. All of which was of a secondary import, to Mr. Crabbe's own dissertation in preamble. Howbeit, like all politicians he soon launched into the main reason of why he is speaking. Which may be for this.

In the late afternoon, to tea at the Paul mansion, where gathered among those of import, were Dr.

and Mrs. Charles H. Clarke. Who did tell me our near-Bluffton murderer never had his fingers printed, nor yet was he dying at all. Which shows how an over zealous newspaper servicer can weave dreams from the typewriter keys. Like Paderewski from a piano.

Home to dinner, to find Nelsie Fraunceill back from a long weekend in Indianapolis. And serving the best liver and onions I ever did eat. After dinner road awhile in the public prints. Then with my wife, poor wretch, indoors all the day, to see Clara Kimball Young at The Faurot.

It's hard to be an optimist, when you have the toothache. And much harder, when you are forced to buy another ton of coal, after you that you were thru for the season.

While Clara was going thru her stunt, all the time I was thinking about the Blue Sky Law and the widow who sold her farm. Turning $30,000 into Dollars "preferred" as she said, "guaranteed by the state." Albeit, the next Legislature will go right on manufacturing laws, which do nothing but muddle things more than ever. Some day, we may awake to the cold fact that the less law we have, the better government we will enjoy.

So, rather late home, and to bed.

ON THE STAGE TODAY

Faurot—“The Laughing Lady” and the Denishawn Dancers.

BY CADRE

Clara Kimball Young is a striking illustration of American beauty; she knows how to wear charming gowns perfectly, which is a whole lot more than even some noted actresses can do. Clara Kimball Young, quite some time before she ever dreamed of becoming a noted cinema star was credited with being a very satisfactory stock actress. It was her charm and beauty that led her into a distinction of becoming perhaps the most noted woman of the silver screen for several years. As time passed there were more favored movie stars developed and so with an enviable reputation and being one of the best advertised women of these times, she sought the stage again.

She selected as her vehicle William Hurlbut's “Rimmed in Scarlet.” The play had been presented in London and had proved very satisfactory. It was a play well suited to her particular talents. It was seen at the Faurot Monday evening by a large audience. Morbid curiosity might to a great extent have been sufficient reason for so large an audience. But the best of it all is that everyone was agreeably surprised. It proved a strong play and both the star and supporting cast were highly acceptable.

Ruth St. Denis

Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and the Denishawn dancers will be at the Faurot this Tuesday evening. It is promised that new standards of poetic dancing will be established by the most excellent organization. It is certain that this troupe of terpsichoreans represents America's contribution to the field of artistic dancing, and a very prominent one at that. The performance as a whole is beautiful in all the word implies and can truthfully be said to have a historic and scientific value. The reserved seat sale is large and it is certain there will be a large audience present.

Arrangements have been made with George Ade to write the titles for Thomas Meighan's latest picture, “The Confidence Man,” a story by L. Y. Erskine and Robert H. Davis. The picture is now nearing completion at the Famous Players, Long Island studio under the direction of Victor Heerman, and next month Ade will work in the studio.

Motion picture studio work is not new to Ade, however. He recently wrote and helped in the production of “Woman-Proof” for Tom Meighan. “Our Leading Citizen” and “Back Home and Broke” also were two of Ade's stories.

Five productions have been issued by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., during the present month. “Galloping Fish” supplies the comedy during March. It is a Thomas H. Ince production featuring Sydney Chaplin, Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling and Chester Conklin.

“Jules of the Field” which was released last week, is the initial independent production of Corinne Griffith and features Conway Tearle in support of the star. “The Enchanted Cottage,” which Richard Barthelmess declare to be his greatest acting picture has also been assigned a March release. It is a screen version of the one act play by Sir Arthur Wing Pinne. May MacAvoy has the lead in the feminine role.

Taylor, president of the Lima Federation of Women's Clubs, has received the official invitation for the 25th annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held in Toledo May 15 to 27. Headquarters for the federation will be at the Sycamore Hotel and the meetings will be at the Art Museum, Rivoli Theatre and College.

At visiting club women are welcomed to all meetings. Election of state officers will be held during the convention.

A reception for state officers and chairman will occur the evening on Tuesday evening at the Art Museum. Tuesday evening the annual "Pioneer Dinner" will be held at the Sycamore Hotel and on Wednesday evening the annual banquet for all club women will be held at the Wagon Wheel.

The "Pioneer Dinner" will take place Thursday morning at the Hotel Sycamore and that afternoon the women will be the guests of the Toledo Chamber of Commerce. ## SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

DEAR MISS SMART: I am a daily reader of your column and would like very much if you would answer a few questions for me. I am 16 years old. How much should I weigh and how tall should I be? I am in the eighth grade. Do you think I am too old for that grade? When I go to high school, what studies would you advise me to take? Can you learn to be a nurse in Lima? If so, where would you have to go? Do you see any harm in dancing? If so, what harm is there? After you dance with a boy, what should you say to him? When you have a party and the boys and girls tell you that they had a nice time, what should you say? What kind of coats will people wear this summer? Will caps be worn? I have blue eyes and brown hair. What color should I wear? Will Spanish lace dresses be worn this summer? Do you like the "shingle" bob hair? Will it be in style long? How late should a girl go to a party out at night? If you go to a basketball game and some fellow asks to take you home, is there any harm in letting him? Will you please tell me the meaning of the following names: Mary, Eunice, Thiburn, Ora, Edmund and Donna. Give me a nickname for each. May I call names? How is my writing? H. M. W.

You should be five feet, one inch tall and weigh 112 pounds. Fifteen is the usual age for the eighth grade. Your curriculum would depend upon what you intend to do upon leaving school. You might choose a commercial course, a household and white, or a college preparatory course. If you are interested in nursing, why not take just a general course, taking mathematics, history, one or two languages. Write to Miss Ella Patterson at the City Hospital or Sister Mary Irene at St. Rita's Hospital and they can tell you information concerning nursing and dancing the music training schools at Lima and a two-course luncheon was institutions.

No, I see no harm in dancing. It's quite the popular pastime now. Both Ackerman and Miss Mary Margaret and Edith Campbell, Bessie Isbany, Lawrence Hays and Bessie DeWitt Campbell, Dora Polson, William Hanna, Philip Hainman and the honored guest.

Mrs. Leona Newton of Bowling Green is the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Newton, N. College-st.

Miss Elizabeth Westman, Richwood, will be hostess to the members of the Seaside Five Hundred club at her home, Wednesday evening.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Sallie Peck, employee of the Fair Deal Five & Ten, quarrels with her policeman cousin, Michael Curtis. That night a storm comes up and Sallie volunteers to take a crash which she and something strikes her a blow on the head.

When Sallie awakes she finds herself in strange surroundings, handsomely furnished. She is waited upon by a maid named Therese and a nurse, Miss Tidmarsh. They call Sallie by the name of Alva Copeland.

Madame Copeland, a tall, richly gowned woman, comes and calls Sallie her step-daughter. She tells the girl she has been in a train wreck and that her life was saved by Cousin Wheeler. Sallie decides to solve the mystery.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The nurse's next words drove the thought from her mind, however, and almost destroyed her appetite. "We must not overdo it at first, you know, but I'm glad you are hungry, for Therese is coming to dress you. You are to sit up for awhile and have a visitor! Isn't that splendid?"

She glanced meaningfully toward the pink roses which had been placed in a vase on the bedstead and Sallie's heart sank.

"Am I?" she replied without enthusiasm. It would perhaps be as well to get the interview over with and as she ate her sprouts rose.

When she had fortified herself with two cups of tea, and the squad was reduced to a mere heap of tiny bones Miss Tidmarsh removed the tray and Therese took her place, with something pale blue and frothy with lace cascading over her arm and a pair of silver brocade slippers dangling from her hand.

Could they be the other girl's clothes, Sallie asked herself as she bathed and permitted Therese to dress her. They were the slinky kind that hung any old way and the tag was a dream; even the slippers fitted although they looked unbelievably small and when at the maid's solicitation she seated herself before the dressing-table to have her hair arranged she was human enough to feel a little thrill of pleasure at the picture that met her gaze.

Only once was she off her guard, when Therese opened a drawer filled with cosmetics and took out a small jar of rouge.

"Can that stuff?" she exclaimed. "I don't ever—"

"But you always permit a little, Miss Alva!" Therese interrupted.

"You are so pale, like one small ghost! Mademoiselle will recall how she protested in Paris when we called the touch of brightness to the face and yet behold the difference!"

She cocked her head on one side in an attitude of admiration and Sallie indignantly submitted. The idea of insinuating that her hair wasn't natural!

Sallie gasped at the result when the make up was applied. Why, she was almost pretty, but if Ma Brennan could see her, or Mike—

"One thing more," Therese turned to the vase and selected three roses from it. "These will add the touch of pink."

"No they won't," Sallie interrupted firmly in her turn. "I'm not wearing Mr. Mike's flowers!"

She recalled the last name engraved on the card and something in the maid's tone warned her that she was being deceived, hence it would be as well to refuse.

But Therese had produced a pin and proceeded to fasten them at the soft belt as tho no opposition had been offered.

It will please Monsieur," she remarked composedly, "and that will also please your mother, mademoiselle. Come now. They are waiting in Madame's sitting room."

She threw open the door and Sallie faced her, deliberately unfastening the roses and laying them on the dressing table.

"I'm pleasing myself about this, Therese. Where did you say they were waiting?"

The maid shrugged and led the way and Sallie followed, the assured look of her high heels and the swirl of the silken draperies giving her a feeling of confidence.

In the hall she encountered a tall young footman with a tea-tray, and tho he bowed quickly and stepped aside she noticed that he shot at her a glance of lively curiosity. She had no time to speculate on it, however, for Therese had thrown open a door at the end of the hall and announced:

"Monsieur Alva, Madame."

The room was large but the well-spaced groups of mauve-upholstered chairs and divans and odd little tables gave it an air of coziness which was warmed by the warm glow of candle-light, for the curtains had been drawn. A tiny fire was lighted, too, on the hearth, and Mrs. Copeland was seated facing it in a deep chair.

She moved slightly as tho to rise and then sank back again, biting her lip.

"Come in, Alva." She tried to speak carelessly but there was a strained edge to her tone. "Your Cousin Wheeler is here."

A slim, elegant figure in the snappiest of clothes had risen and stepped forward with both hands outstretched. Feeling very much as tho she were a play Sallie moved slowly forward to meet him.

"My dearest girl!" His voice had a flip quality that went with the suit he had worn in the picture but he wasn't smiling now. Underneath his effusiveness he was plainly ill at ease. "I am so glad that you are better. I could scarcely wait to see you!"

Sallie gave him one of her hands and replied coolly: "Thanks." Her manner was strengthened by the momentary embarrassment of these two and she withdrew her hand and sailed on past him with her small nose in the air.

"Alva, you were given Wheeler's roses, weren't you?" Mrs. Copeland spoke with a note of reproach. "Come and sit down, my dear."

"No, she shall sit here by me on the davenport!" Wheeler Sloat had recovered from his temporary rebuff and followed but Sallie took the chair facing Mrs. Copeland and indicated. She knew that they were both looking at her appraisingly and glancing up she caught the quick flash of congratulation which passed between them.

"Oh, yes, the roses!" Sallie turned and favored him with a slow little smile. "I've been told, too, that I've got you to thank for saving my life."

"Not at all! It was nothing—I mean, that any man—"

"I'm pleased, for Sallie, little gurgle of laughter. She was commencing to enjoy Cousin Wheeler.

"I believe you!" She hoped he got her meaning. "You must have got your wits about you pretty well in that wreck!"

"Don't let us talk about it!" Mrs. Copeland murmured. "The shock—!"

"One m, Fitch. Wheel the wagon over here, please."

Out of the tail of her eye Sallie saw the tall young footman enter with the tea-tray and proceed to arrange its contents on a little wheeled table which he rolled across to Mrs. Copeland's side. Then at a whispered word from her he withdrew but not before he had glanced once more covertly in Sallie's direction.

"I received a letter from your grandmother's secretary today," Mrs. Copeland announced as she busied herself with the tea-things. "She will be able to return very soon now and she is more than anxious to see you."

So she had a grandmother, too! Sallie accepted the cup which Wheeler offered and sipped her tea reflectively. They were sipping her some information; surely they knew there was nothing wrong with her memory, especially after that crack to the nurse about her identity!

"I had forgotten all about my grandmother," The third cup of tea had been poured upon her and Sallie placed it on a small table near her. She seemed to be a whole lot of things I don't remember!" Wheeler Sloat remarked smoothly. "It's so many years since you have seen Grandmother at she can't be anything but, a name to you now but I've been with her a great deal, you know. She is really remarkable for her age, isn't she Aunt Fitch?"

"Quite," Mrs. Copeland agreed but somewhat dryly. "It is very sad at her ailment is incurable but six months is the longest we may hope to see her with us, the specialists say; otherwise Alva would have remained her convent in Switzerland until the summer. She is quite helpless, you know, my dear, but her mind is wonderfully active."

She had added the last remark to Sallie but Sloat took it up with a laugh. "And quite as determined as ever! You will probably find her rather terrible person to get along with, Alva, but the only thing is to humor her. I'll do, and treat her whims as tho they were laws."

"Why?" asked Sallie, but inwardly her thoughts were racing. Could she be the same?

"Wheeler simply means that it is more kind to avoid argument and try to please her," Mrs. Copeland explained hastily and turned as the footman entered once more. "I did not ring, Fitch."

"No, madam, Mrs. Louis Delapierre is calling." He spoke very carefully and distinctly and Sallie jumped. Where had she heard that name before?

"I told you that I was at home to no one!" Mrs. Copeland rose in answer. "However, I will see Mrs. Delapierre in the smaller reception room, Fitch."

"Very good, madam." He bowed and vanished and she turned to Sallie. "A very old friend of whom you have heard me speak, my dear, but I don't think you are quite strong enough yet to meet strangers. I shall be going."

"Oh, Alva will stay and talk to me, Aunt Fitch," Sloat observed, adding indignantly: "We have a great deal to say to each other, you know."

"Very well, but you must not tire her," Mrs. Copeland paused for a moment uncertainly and then went on to say that Sallie was oblivious to her departure. She was searching in her memory for the vague impression which came back and all at once it came back to her; Ma Brennan in a squeaky rocker at home with the newspaper which bore the big black letter: "No Trace of Delapierre Diamonds. Police Look for Missing Girl."

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

I sat up very straight, and winked very hard, and as my eyelids closed down I felt as tho the hot irons were searing into my brain. It is a strange thing, Little Marquise, but honestly I had never dreamed that any scandal about little Jack could attach itself to John.

I expect that all the town is talking about us and saying that I have been deceived into adopting John's child. I wonder if I can go on with it.

As I sat beside John I could not speak, for I knew that John was telling the truth. I knew that in my subconsciousness I had had a suspicion all the time the baby belonged to my husband, altho consciously I would never own it even to myself.

"Did you know that Paula Perier was going to leave her baby outside your door, Jack?"

"Of course I didn't know it, dear. Much as you needed the baby at that time, for you know the doctor had said that unless we could supply a baby to take the place of the one you lost from the accident, he would not be responsible for your reason or your life—I would not have been so craven as that, dear. Surely you must not think that I could conspire with Paula to force my own child upon you without your consent."

"Did you love her, Jack?"

"I don't know, dear. I didn't love her as I love you. She is beautiful and clever, and amusing. We were together almost all the time for a little while. I think she loved me very much. But I swear to you, Leslie, that I have never seen nor spoken to her since you and I were married. The moment I saw you, Leslie, I knew you were the only woman in the world for me, and I have been absolutely true to you since the moment I saw you. Do you remember it, darling—it was at the Robertsons' party."

Well do I remember it, Little Marquise. I know I asked myself when I got home at night, why it was that, out of all the men that I met at that party, I singled out Jack. He seemed to be the only one that I could remember distinctly. When I thought of him my heart beat a little faster.

It was a whirlwind courtship. I was married to Jack almost before I knew it.

As I thought of my wedding, much that had been mysterious about John's visit to Albany was explained.

As tho he had read my thoughts John continued:

"You also remember, Leslie, when I went back, supposedly on business, just before our wedding. I went because Paula had a bundle of letters I had written her when I thought I was passionately in love with her, and as I was closing the book I wanted those letters back."

"Did you get them?"

"Not at that time, but I got them later."

"What did you do with them?"

"I burned them immediately." (Copyright, 1924).

DOWNEY STOOD FIRPO OFF; PROVES EASY MARK FOR TOM

GIBBONS' GREAT BOXER SOON FINISHES DOWNEY

(BY HARRY BRADBURY)
Sports Editor.

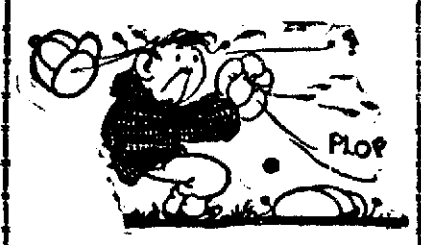

I was one of perhaps eight thousand people who were packed as tight as cotton in the hold of a ship at Riverside Park, Dayton, Monday night, witnesses to the sport of fisticuffs; to see Tommy Gibbons, the boxer who had played the limit with champion Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., thru fifteen rounds; not all of them fair as becomes the best principles of boxing; with his left leg after the eleventh round absolutely paralyzed from an unfair blow; without protest; fighting with the same dogged determination which has characterized the ideals of the prize ring since Ring became noted way back in the early days of the Eighteenth century.

Tom's opponent was Joe Downey, the fistic idol of Columbus; the same fighter who had earned a high reputation by staying with the Wild Bull of the Plains, without being knocked down; a fighter noted for his toughness and his ability to take a hard one. It was demonstrative of but one thing the value of a comprehensive knowledge of self-defense.

I saw Gibbons come into the ring, smiling, confident. He was over to Downey's corner as soon as he was firmly established and shook hands with him cordially, with no malice in his expression. I saw in Gibbons a smaller man than Downey, as the referee gave them their instructions. I saw the beginning of the first round; a round between a master of boxing whose object was to draw his opponent out; to mark with his short comings. I saw him firmly on his feet; always in perfect position; always ready for the blow that comes the most. I saw him carefully measuring distance with a practiced eye, willing and eager that Downey should find, and as the Columbus boxer did try with several left and right punches and swings, I saw Gibbons measure them, always calculating their worth and keeping out of harm's way with uncanny skill. I saw him still drawing Downey out, and occasionally getting in a left jab or punch; never, however, using his right or trying to use it.

A fearful right arm swing, swift as lightning, body going forward with the arm to land increased power, square to the apex of the jaw; so fast so hard that it was over almost before it had begun. They fought less than two minutes. Tom Gibbons is a wonderful boxer; a great fighter; one of the greatest of this time and age.

Working Out The Kinks

PALMETTO, Fla. — The Brooklyn Robins took an 80-mile automobile ride from Clearwater, Monday and were beaten 17 to 0 in a exhibition game with Milwaukee of the American Association. Milwaukee made 17 hits off the Robins' rookies, while Brooklyn didn't get a man to third base.

PLANT CITY, Fla. — The New York Giants took their fourth straight training season trimming, this time from the Indianapolis minor league club. The Indians caught the National League's playing like busters and won 7 to 0.

NEW ORLEANS, La. — Rookie pitchers gathered from here and there by Manager Huggins, were given detailed instructions at the New York Yankees' headquarters Monday. Bob Shawkey and Herb Pennock helped him to show Gaston, Owen, McPhee, Rootger and Thompson some of the stuff they will have to develop to retain berths with the champions.

LAKELAND, Fla. — The Cleveland Indians got only four hits off Logan Drake, Chattanooga, and G. H. Edmondson, Waxahatchee, Tex., both rookie hurlers and lost to the Vamigans 4 to 2.

GREENVILLE, S. C. — The Tigers piled up 22 hits, including a homer by Wingo, recruit outfielder and Detroit routed Toronto 14 to 4. Seven of the wallows were off Lynch who pitched the last five innings for the Leafs.

MIAMI, Fla. — After a severe trip thru swamp and mud, the Reds arrived here to stage a veteran game at the Polo Grounds. Upper Rixey was left at Orlando with an infected knee.

OAKLAND, Calif. — The Chicago Cubs are scheduled to perform here today. Yesterday rain at Stockton prevented their playing a scheduled game with Portland.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla. — The White Sox yesterday defeated the lowly Braves by a score of 3 to 1. Ted Lyons and Roy Moore were in the mound for the Sox.

BRADENTOWN, Fla. — Not especially gleeful over their 17 to 10 victory over the Phillies at Louisville in a sloppy game Monday, the Cards went to Winterhaven to tackle the White Sox. Eleven runs scored in the eighth by the Cards against three pitchers won their victory Monday.

MORILE, Ala. — George Siler is digging deep into baseball strategy in his drills with the Browns. Just now he is emphasizing "head up" baseball and wants a little recklessness playing as possible.

Movies Offer Champion A $1,000,000

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Jack Dempsey has a million-dollar motion picture offer and two championship fight bids from which to select in mapping out his 1924 program of action.

This was disclosed by the heavyweight title holder's manager, Jack Kearns, who said he would leave tomorrow for Los Angeles for a final conference with motion picture interests and also with James F. Coffey, California promoter who has renewed his bid to Dempsey for a title bout with Harry Wills at Tijuana, Mexico, in September.

The other bid was made by Tex Rickard for a title match in or near New York in September with the "best available contender." Rickard indicated he preferred to stage a return bout between Dempsey and Louis Firpo, but if the Argentine held to his present intention to retire, the promoter would seek an opponent from other contenders, including Wills, Jack Renwick, Quintin, Romero Rojas, of Chile, and Erminio Spalla, European heavyweight champion. It was said that both are on their way to the United States to fight under Rickard's direction.

Kearns declared he had given no definite answer to any of these propositions. The offers of both Rickard and Coffey, it was understood, involved in excess of $500,000 for Dempsey, so that by accepting one of these and a movie contract, the champion's 1924 earnings would approximate a million and a half, more than he has made from all of his ring engagements since becoming title-holder.

HERE'S AN HONEST-TO-GOODNESS CAGING FIVE

(By Billy Evans)

Undated since Mar. 10, 1913, the unaltered record of the Passaic (N. J.) high school basketball team.

On that date Passaic was beaten by the Preston (N. J.) High school five by the score of 32 to 20.

Since that time the wonder team from Passaic has won 159 consecutive games and captured a score or more championships.

It is a rather interesting fact that the closest Passaic has come to being defeated in four seasons of continued success was also at the hands of the Preston five.

In tournament play last March Passaic defeated Preston in the semi-finals by the very scant margin of two points, 36 to 34. The reason for the closeness of the score was due to the fact that Passaic early shot up a big lead and then withdrew the regulars to save them for the finals.

NEW TEAM EVERY YEAR
Not a single member of the original team that started Passaic on the winning streak that is now the talk of the sport world is playing on the present aggregation.

Couch Blood, who has played a leading role in Passaic's winning record, has some definite and unusual views on basketball.

Get the ball, keep the ball, put the ball in the basket. Those are Blood's three pet theories on developing a winner.

NO SPECIALISTS ON TEAM
The Passaic coach does not believe in specializing. He feels that every member of the squad should work to be a good shot. Couch Blood is firm in the belief that a smashing offense is the very best defense.

In regards the five-man defense as effective but not good basketball because it slows up the action.

Play the ball and not the man, is another axiom of the Passaic coach. This he believes eliminates roughness because of personal contact and cuts down the fouls called.

Blood has no time for the individual star, places teamwork first at all times, and is keen for types in selecting his players.

AS A MATTER OF FACT

Being a Criticism of the Past and the Future in the World of Professional and Amateur Sports. BY HARRY BRADBURY.

The most remarkable race horse in all American turf history was Goldsmith Maid. In the matter of purses won there has been but one—Zev—whose total winnings amounted to more in dollars and cents. Man 'O War comes next to Zev in running races with a total of $249,465. If you consider stamina and endurance the ancient Goldsmith Maid stands in a class all by herself. Her record is still more remarkable when one considers the times. She never raced for a purse in excess of $5,000 and had an aggregate sum of $24,537.50 to her credit. She was practically champion of trotters from 1865 to 1877—twelve years. She started in 123 races and won 97 of them, was second 16 times and third 7 times, fourth in 1 and was unplaced twice. In her time she reduced the world's record from 2:17 1/2 to 2:14. When she was 18 years old she won all of her engagements except one. It was in 1876 that she accompanied the greatest array of trotting talent in America and made the grand circuit. In that memorable company were Smuggler, Lucille Goldust, Bodine, Judge Fullerton and Lula.

It was at Cleveland that Smuggler beat her, after trotting five heats, in which she won two. But she got even with this horse at Buffalo in the following week when she trotted and got a mark of 2:16, 2:15 1/4 and 2:15. These were the three fastest consecutive heats up to that time. And she kept right on winning at the other cities in the Grand Circuit.

WHEN SHE WAS SWEET SEVENTEEN
Take all the trotting horse records right up to the present time and you will find none to compare with this ancient beauty. She was foaled at Deckertown, N. J., in 1857. She began her racing career when she was 8 years old and in the first season out she got a record of 2:36 and this was going some in those days. Her most noted race in that year was with a horse named General Butler. She made him step in 2:23 1/2 to beat her. Perhaps her most noted race was with Dexter — the name is familiar even yet. She raced this horse for a $3,000 purse at Middletown, N. Y. She was beaten in 2:28. All lovers of the turf venerate the name of Budd Doble.

Finds Kellogg's Bran "Easy way to avoid constipation" after suffering for years

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It can lead to many others. Twenty years' suffering with constipation undermined this man's health. Kellogg's Bran restored it—as it has done for thousands. This is what he says:

"Gentlemen:

After eating Kellogg's Bran twice a day for one month I find it not only an 'Easy Way to Avoid Constipation,' but an easy and most pleasant way to cure it. I have been troubled with constipation for more than twenty years, after adopting the milk and bran diet I find my stomach greatly improved, and find it a specific for constipation.

I deem it only justice that you should know what your product has done for me, and what it is capable of doing for others."

The original of this letter is on file in the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan.
